

BYLAWS of the DEPARTMENT OF BIOCHEMISTRY and MOLECULAR BIOLOGY

Preamble: The Bylaws of the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology will be in compliance with the Bylaws of the University and the Colleges served by the Department. If, in any matter, specifications or omissions place these Bylaws in conflict with University or College policies, these latter shall take precedence.

1. THE FACULTY

1.1. Composition of the Faculty

1.1.1. The regular faculty of the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology shall be composed of all persons in the Department who have been appointed under the rules of tenure and who hold the rank of professor, associate professor, or assistant professor and who have a salaried appointment with the Department (0% or more). For faculty with a partial appointment, a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) that has been approved by the Faculty Advisory Committee will outline procedures relating to the joint appointment.

1.1.2. The designation of Adjunct Faculty within the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology will be outlined in a MOU approved by the Faculty Advisory Committee which outlines the initial duration of the assignment (one to three years), privileges, and expectations. The adjunct faculty designation is made in accordance with University policies as outlined in the Faculty Handbook and issued by the Office of the Provost from time to time. Unless otherwise specified in the MOU, adjunct faculty will not be able to serve as advisors for department graduate students. The adjunct faculty status can be renewed through a new MOU.

1.1.3. The fixed term faculty of the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology shall consist of all persons holding the rank of professor, associate professor, assistant professor, or instructor, but not appointed under the rules of tenure. In accord with University policies, such appointments are made on an academic year or annual basis. The Department is under no obligation to renew or extend the appointment beyond the ending date.

Appointments are made by the Department Chair after consultation with the Faculty Advisory Committee. Fixed-term faculty should have credentials meriting appointment at a faculty rank, but for whom tenure system appointments are not appropriate or possible. The rank of non-tenure system faculty will be that considered appropriate for their professional experience and accomplishments, and can be for teaching, research or both. Prior to appointment in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, fixed term faculty involved in research shall present a research seminar. The individual should have substantial postdoctoral experience, demonstrated research productivity, and given evidence that their professional development has advanced to a stage where they would be considered capable of directing an independent extramurally-funded research program. Upon request by the faculty member to the Department Chair for voting privileges, the Faculty Advisory Committee will vote; a simple majority suffices to grant voting privileges. Voting privileges will remain in effect unless a new vote by the FAC revokes these privileges. The faculty member will be informed in writing by the FAC

- 1.1.4. Honorary faculty shall be those persons designated as Visiting Professors or Professors Emeriti.

1.2. Voting Faculty

- 1.2.1. The voting faculty shall be all tenure system regular faculty solely or jointly appointed in the Department, and those Fixed-Term faculty who have been granted voting privileges.
- 1.2.2. Faculty holding joint appointments shall have the same voting privileges as do singly appointed faculty members on all intradepartmental matters.
- 1.2.3. A faculty member jointly appointed in two or more units may vote only once in a given election concerning extra departmental matters. In elections voted upon by two or more units, the faculty member shall vote in that unit which has primary responsibility for initiating personnel action, as indicated on the appointment form filed in the Office of the Provost.
- 1.2.4. A faculty member may be elected to an academic governance body as a representative of any unit in which he/she holds regular faculty status.
- 1.2.5. Faculty have the privilege of voting as members of the various Colleges and programs served by the Department, as specified by the Bylaws of those units.

1.3. Departmental Meetings

- 1.3.1. The faculty of the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology shall meet at least once during each academic semester, excluding summer. Additional meetings of the Department may be called by the Department Chairperson or by the Faculty Advisory Committee. Such meetings may be attended by representatives of the Graduate Student Council and a Postdoctoral Fellow as non-voting members. When, in the Chairperson's judgment, the discussion centers on matters in which student or postdoctoral participation is not appropriate, a meeting of voting faculty only may be convened (see Section 3.5.3.1.).
- 1.3.2. The Chairperson or designee shall attend and chair all departmental faculty meetings.
- 1.3.3. Conduct of all Department faculty meetings shall be governed by Robert's Rules of Order, Revised, except as modified in these Bylaws. In general, departmental meetings will follow an agenda, presented to the faculty at least two days in advance of the meeting. The agenda will be prepared by the Chairperson, with advice from the Faculty Advisory Committee. Minutes will be kept and be available to faculty and student representatives. Persons, other than those designated under Section 1.3.1., wishing to attend departmental meetings should request permission of the Department Chairperson to do so, and can do so only on consent of the Chairperson.

Meetings which deal with personnel and other privileged matters are designated for voting faculty only and are not open.

The Department shall have a document on the evaluation of faculty which describes criteria for appointment, promotion, and tenure “The Evaluation of Faculty Performance in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology”. This document shall be reviewed by the Department Chairperson and the Faculty Advisory Committee at three year intervals, and revised if necessary. It must conform to the college document, Guidelines for Faculty Reappointment, Promotion and Tenure in the College of Natural Science. Revisions shall be adopted by vote of the faculty.

1.4.2. Recommendation for Tenure

When a recommendation is to be made with regard to granting of tenure to a non-tenured faculty member, the Faculty Advisory Committee shall assemble information as to the contributions and competence of the faculty member being reviewed. The tenured members of the Committee shall present their findings to the Chairperson and shall make a recommendation to the Chairperson, recording the vote by the members in favor or against promotion. These recommendations will be presented to and reviewed at a meeting of the faculty members of rank above that of the candidate. The Committee's recommendation should be based on evaluation of criteria given in the document The Evaluation of Faculty Performance in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology (see Section 1.4.1.), as well as other information as described below (Sections 1.4.2.1. and 1.4.2.2.). The Chairperson shall make the final decision concerning the recommendation to be made to the Dean.

1.4.2.1. The information compiled by the Faculty Advisory Committee will be in accordance with Michigan State University guidelines found in the Faculty Guide for Reappointment, Promotion, and Tenure Review <https://www.hr.msu.edu/ua/promotion/faculty-academic-staff/guide.html> and the specific guidelines developed by the lead college of the faculty member.

1.4.2.2. Additional opinions from inside and outside the University may be sought. In no case will such information relieve the Faculty Advisory Committee and the Chairperson of their responsibilities as to recommendation for or against the granting of tenure.

1.4.3. When a recommendation is to be made with regard to promotion or reappointment of a faculty member, the members of the Faculty Advisory Committee, of rank above that of the member being reviewed, shall function as described in Section 1.4.2.

If approved by the Faculty Advisory Committee, changes will be voted upon by the faculty.
- 3.4.3.1.7. The Faculty Advisory Committee shall assist the Department Chairperson in space allocation within the Biochemistry Building. The Faculty Advisory Committee may determine that a proposed space allocation change is of sufficient importance that the entire faculty should be consulted or that an ad-hoc space advisory committee should be established to guide the development of space allocation plans.

Space will be allocated according to programmatic needs and allocations will be assessed annually. Needs for changes in space allocation can be identified by the Chairperson or brought to the Chairperson at a regular Faculty Advisory Committee meeting, which functions as the departmental space committee as described in departmental Bylaws (sections 3.4.3.1.1. and 3.4.3.1.7). 3.4.3.4.2. The Faculty Advisory Committee shall conduct the election.

3.4.3.4.3. The Faculty Advisory Committee shall prepare the list of nominees to include all faculty eligible to serve. The list shall be provided to all faculty for the first ballot. The votes cast on each ballot shall equal the number of members to be selected. Each succeeding ballot to finalize the election shall be cast in a regularly scheduled faculty meeting.

3.4.3.4.4. If, for a particular position or positions, no one received more than 50% of the votes cast on the first ballot, a run-off election for each unfilled position shall be held between the unelected candidates receiving the most votes on the first ballot. The number of candidates in a run-off election will be twice the number of vacancies to be filled. The candidates receiving the most votes in the run-off election shall be elected. The two "alternate" committee members (see Sections 3.4.3.4.4.1. and 3.4.3.4.4.2.) shall be those members receiving the next highest number of votes.

3.4.3.4.4.1. If the membership of the Faculty Advisory Committee is such that for considerations of major policy matters (e.g., regarding tenure or promotion), more than one member would be disqualified from participation in the discussion, then "elected alternates," beginning with the person with the highest number of votes at the previous election, shall temporarily take place as appropriate to bring the number of members up to four. In considering promotions of associate professor to professor, the number of professors on the committee shall be four. The temporary member(s) would function only in regard to the issue on which the permanent member(s) were disqualified.

3.4.3.4.4.2. In the event of an absence greater than three months by a permanent member, the position would be filled by an "elected alternate", beginning with the person with the highest numbers of votes at the previous election for the duration of the absence of the elected member, or for the remainder of the term, whichever is shorter. The "elected alternate" serving in this way for a period of one year or less would be eligible for election at the next regular election of FAC members. If the period of service by the originally elected member were one year or less, he/she would also be eligible for election at the next regular election of FAC members.

3.4.3.5. Procedures

3.4.3.5.1. The new committee shall elect its own Chairperson and a clerk as the first order of business at the first meeting of the new committee and, generally, shall arrange a meeting with the "out-going" committee to maintain continuity.

3.4.3.5.2. The Faculty Advisory Committee shall make the agenda of its meetings available to the faculty.

3.4.3.5.4. The clerk of the Faculty Advisory Committee shall record the minutes of committee meetings for distribution to the committee members prior to the next meeting.

3.4.4. Student Participation in Academic Governance

3.4.4.1. Student participation in Department academic governance bodies shall, in all cases, be in the same mode as faculty participation, except as reserved. The matters reserved to the faculty are:

3.4.4.1.1. Policy concerning salary, leaves, insurance, retirement, and fringe benefits of faculty.

- 3.4.4.1.2. Decisions concerning the appointment, salary, reappointment, promotion, tenure, or dismissal of individual faculty members.

Evidence from students regarding the teaching performance of faculty shall be considered in decisions concerning the above matters.

- 3.4.4.1.3. Matters affecting the professional responsibility of the faculty to establish and maintain the intellectual authority of the University.

- 3.4.4.1.4. Matters concerning the academic standing of students.

4. DEPARTMENTAL GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

- 4.1. The Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology follows the Faculty Grievance Policy published in the Faculty Handbook and approved by the Board of Trustees for resolving employment related disputes that arise between faculty or academic staff members and administrators. However, a faculty or academic staff member who feels aggrieved should first seek an informal resolution at the department or college level before filing a formal grievance.

- 4.1.1. Faculty or academic staff wishing to pursue an informal resolution may contact the department Chairperson or Faculty Advisory Committee Chairperson.
